This historical thriller from New York Times bestseller Andrew Gross is a deeply affecting, series of twists and turns through a landscape at times horrifyingly familiar but still completely compelling.

In 1944 physics professor Alfred Mendl is separated from his family and sent to the men's camp, where all of his life's work and belongings are tossed on a roaring fire. Alfred is one of only two people in the world with his particular knowledge. Knowledge that could start a war, or end it.

Nathan Blum works behind a desk at an intelligence office in Washington, DC, but longs to contribute to the war effort in a meaningful way, and he has a particular skill set the U.S. suddenly needs. Fluent in German and Polish, Nathan proved his scrappiness when he escaped from the Polish ghetto at a young age. Now, the government wants him to take on the most dangerous assignment of his life: Nathan must sneak into Auschwitz, on a mission to find and escape with one man.
